Michigan State University is implementing a new Research Administration System to manage sponsored projects through their life-cycle. The initial phase of the system goes live on August 15 for central processing of awards, subawards, institutional proposals, and negotiations. Researchers and college administrators will have “view only” access to this information and can actively manage their awards with Contract and Grant Administration. The next phase of the system goes live in April 2017, and will include the ability to create funding proposals, route proposals for approval, electronically submit proposals to grants.gov, and submit conflict of interest disclosures.

Register for 'live' or online sessions available in July and August!

- Reviewing Information in the Research Administration System (instructor-led)
- Getting Started with the Research Administration System (e-learning)
- Reviewing Information in the Research Administration System (e-learning)

User education support materials are now available
How-to videos, downloadable reference materials, and user manuals are now available online at the Research Administration website. More...